

ANDERSON WILL ISSUE INJUNCTION

WILL STOP EFFORT TO UNIONIZE WEST VIRGINIA FIELDS

MUST DISCONTINUE CHECKOFF SYSTEM

Judge's Decision Follows Refusal of President Lewis of the Mine Workers to Cease Efforts in the Fields—Believes There Is Violations of Anti-Trust Law.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 29.—Refusal to cease efforts to unionize the Williamson coal field of West Virginia, made late today in federal court here by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America, was followed by a statement from Judge A. B. Anderson that on Monday he would issue an injunction to accomplish that purpose.

No statement was made by the judge as to the exact scope of the order, but the decision to issue it came at the end of a hearing for a temporary order on the ground that the union and operators in organized coal fields are engaged in an unlawful conspiracy to check interstate competition in the coal market for the non-union West Virginia field, centering around Mingo county, the storm center of a strike for more than a year.

In a plain statement of his views on the evidence presented, Judge Anderson declared his belief that a combination to restrain trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act had been established by the complainant, the Borderland Coal Corporation.

WOULD EXCLUDE JAP IMMIGRANTS FROM COUNTRY

Will Come Before the American Legion Convention.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 29.—Practical exclusion of the Japanese immigrant by a new international agreement based upon mutual respect and reciprocal in nature is recommended in the report of the American Legion's oriental committee to be submitted to the national convention of the Legion here next week. It was announced tonight.

The report describes Japan's immigrants as "unassimilable." The instances in which the Japanese in other countries have become assimilated the report says are almost non-existent.

"We find that in places where there has been a very large influx of Japanese in proportion to other population, the Japanese as citizens of Japan, incline to become dominant and certainly a great detriment to the people originally inhabiting the country. The differences in the economic conditions and methods between the Japanese and the people living in the United States is so diverse that it is bound to create even worse friction than it might in any other country where the conditions are similar."

G. L. RIGGS SELLS HOME TO GET GAS COMPANY

County Clerk G. L. Riggs recently sold his residence property at the northeast corner of Morton avenue and South Main street to the Get Gas Co. Possession is to be given in 30 days. Mr. Riggs purchased the property within recent months from the executors of the Elizabeth Stryker estate. He has made some improvements and is now occupying as a residence. It is understood that Mr. Riggs sold the property at a substantial increase in price. It is a remarkably fine location for a service station, as it is on the corner of the main thoroughfare from the south and east. It is because of the building of the hard road to Springfield and the further fact that the road south is also included in the hard road program that the property is so desirable for the company's purpose.

LITTLE PROGRESS MADE SATURDAY ON TARIFF MEASURE

Pressure Behind the Bill Eased Off perceptibly.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Pressure behind the tax revision bill eased off perceptibly today in the senate after it had become apparent that there was small prospect of a final vote before the middle of next week. Little progress was made today on the measure and there was no effort to force a night session.

Negotiations between the majority and the minority looking to an agreement for a day for final vote fell thru. Later Democratic leaders estimated that the bill might be passed by next Wednesday or Thursday. Some senators on the majority side thought the vote would come by Tuesday, while there were other estimates that it might be delayed until next Saturday.

"De have now broken the back of the movement to force this bill thru without proper consideration," said Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking member of the finance committee. "Members on both sides apparently have come to the conclusion as a result of criticisms, that the bill should be given careful scrutiny and consideration."

Only two amendments to the bill were disposed of during the six hours the senate was in session today. Under one change adopted on motion of Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, income tax returns of both corporations and individuals would be open to inspection by direction of either house of congress. Under the existing law these returns are opened for inspection only upon orders of the president.

Bonus From War Profits
Before the senate recessed until Monday, Senator Reed also launched his fight for the soldiers' bonus which he has proposed shall be paid out of funds obtained by continuing the excess profits tax. In a vigorous speech, he declared that his amendment was designed "to pay the bonus from the profits of the war profiteers."

"I am only taking the funds," he said, turning to the Republicans, "that you propose to throw away and leave in the hands of the profiteers. You can put this money in the hands of the soldiers and not adversely affect the fiscal policy of the government. That answers all arguments raised against the bonus by the president's letter."

Senator Reed charged that it was the Republican plan to "kill" the bonus bill.

An amendment offered by Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, proposing exemption from taxation the income derived from business done in China by American corporations eighty per cent of whose gross income comes from that country and fifty per cent of whose gross income comes from that country and fifty per cent of whose business is done there, precipitated a three hour fight but finally was passed over as was that proposing retention of the capital stock tax, which the finance committee proposed to repeal on next January first.

A tax of one thousand per cent on political campaign contributions over one hundred dollars, whether in cash or promises to a candidate of campaign committee was proposed in the amendment by Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia.

The rate would apply to presidential and congressional candidates in primaries as well as general elections.

Lives Lost In Vancouver Storm

(By The Associated Press)
VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 29.—Between thirty five and fifty lives lost and property damage of several million dollars tonight was the estimated toll of floods that swept away parts of several towns north and east of here last night and today. The most damage was at Britannia Beach, a mining village with a population of 350, eighteen miles north of Vancouver. There last night a cloud burst, broke thru a fill and released a torrent which rushed down to the ocean, carrying about half the houses in the town. Late in the afternoon heavier rain placed the number of dead and missing at 35. A ship bearing medical aid, has gone from Vancouver. A portion of Port Conquillam, 14 miles east of Vancouver was destroyed by waters of the Conquillam river. No mention was made of casualties but fourteen families were said to be marooned. The Canadian Pacific Railway reported $1,000,000 damage to its property. Several bridges and miles of track were washed away on the main line paralyzing transcontinental traffic.

STATEMENTS ARE BRANDED FALSE BY JUDGE THAYER

Issues Statement Relative to His Charge to the Jury.

DEBHAM, Mass., Oct. 29.—Judge Webster Thayer tonight denounced as "absolutely false" reports which he said had been published overseas that the jury at the trial of Nicola Cacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted of a double murder during a highway robbery at South Braintree last year was instructed that it must convict them because they were Italians and radicals.

Immediately after he had continued for a week the hearing for a new trial for the men, who since their conviction have been the subjects of bomb, speaking and marching demonstrations in Europe and South America, Judge Thayer read his statement.

In the Norfolk county court house under the heaviest armed surveillance in its history, with mounted state constabulary patrolling the vicinity, motorcycle police in reserve and a score of uniformed Boston policemen with guns stationed about the structure and grounds, Judge Thayer said:

"These cases seemed to have assumed a state, national and international interest. Overseas a statement was published that the presiding justice (Judge Thayer) said to the jury that these men must be convicted because they were Italians and radicals. That statement was absolutely false. It was published thru ignorance or malice."

"I have labored to keep out of this case every reference to anarchy or radicalism of any kind, and succeeded in keeping it out until Mr. Vanzetti himself took the witness stand."

"I want it made clear that I stated to the jury in my charge, 'In the administration of our laws, criminal or civil, there is no discrimination between the classes of society. Under our law all classes, poor or rich, learned or illiterate, radical or conservative, foreign or native born enjoy the same rights and privileges. I therefore beseech you not to allow the fact that these defendants are Italians to influence you. They have the same rights as though they were Americans. I make this statement because I feel that in view of what is happening abroad and because of the situation that may exist the people of this commonwealth should know the statement that their servant made to the jury in the trial of these cases.'"

BEER WILL SOON BE AVAILABLE

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—A complete understanding has been reached with the prohibition unit to permit beer being made immediately available for the sick under the new treasury regulations. Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair announced today after a conference with Prohibition Commissioner Hayes.

Points in the regulations upon which there had been some doubt were cleared up. Mr. Blair said, and the prohibition unit evidenced a desire to make effective the new rules without delay. Applications from brewers for permits to enable them to manufacture beer for medical purposes would be expedited he added and there would be no red tape in carrying out the law as it now stands.

Mr. Blair's announcement interpreted by officials as meaning that stocks of beer already on hand in brewers' warehouses, but not given out until the sheriff had an opportunity of serving bench warrants, it was said.

SMALL NAMES ILLINOIS MEN FOR CEREMONY

Selects Vets to Attend Funeral of Unknown Soldier.

(By The Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 29.—Governor Small tonight announced the names of Illinois' three World War veterans who will represent the state at the funeral of America's Unknown Warrior at Arlington Cemetery on Armistice Day. The delegation will be headed by Col. James Eddy of the "Dandy First" of Chicago. The other two are Major Thomas L. Pekete, Jr. of East St. Louis, and Lieutenant Howard C. Knotts of Springfield.

The three men selected by Governor Small served with distinction with the American expeditionary forces.

Colonel Eddy began his military career in 1876 with the Warren Artillery of Rhode Island. He was a major with the First Illinois Volunteers in the Spanish-American war and in the World War was lieutenant colonel of the 131st infantry.

Major Pekete served with the 124th field artillery. Lieutenant Knotts, former ace with the 17th air squadron is credited with bringing down eight enemy planes. He was twice wounded and several times decorated by Pershing and allied generals. He is a son of E. C. Knotts, federal district attorney at Springfield.

LEGION MEMBERS GREETED BY RAIN IN KANSAS CITY

Reminded Them of the Trenches Over in France.

(By The Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 29.—Rain such as brought back to the minds of overseas veterans days and nights spent on the soaked, slippery battlefields of France greeted the American Legionnaires who came in today to attend the national convention of the legion here next week.

But the ties of friendship were stronger than mere physical comfort and on dozens of downtown street corners stood groups of khaki clad heroes, utterly oblivious to the downpour living again the days of Chateau Thierry and the Argonne.

Line were pierced over and over, villages fell, and the stars and stripes were run up over conquered enemy positions. Here and there in the groups were seen men leaning on crutches or canes, in nearly every instance attended by a husky service man. Frequently members of a group would crowd their way aside to give a hug and a handshake to a new arrival and the story of the days "over there" would go on.

Today's weather, officials of the weather bureau said, was only a passing disturbance and it was predicted that clear, skies and balmy air would prevail when National Commander John G. Emery of Grand Rapids, Michigan, drops his gavel and the big convention gets formally into action Monday morning.

Military Atmosphere
Convention officials tonight were unable to say how many men arrived during the day but the number was sufficient this evening to give the downtown hotels and legion headquarters almost a wholly military atmosphere.

Particularly colorful was a western group of former service men who came in high boots, sombreros and flannel shirts of vivid hues. Each incoming state delegation sought by means of similar dress or ornament to make themselves distinctive.

Tomorrow the first of the noted foreign military men who will attend the convention are scheduled to arrive. They are General Armando Diaz of the Italian armies and General Baron Jacques of Belgium. Elaborate welcoming ceremonies have been arranged.

Included in General Diaz program is an afternoon welcoming ceremony by 13,000 local Italians. The general will be guest at a concert at which Titta Ruffa, the Italian tenor, will sing, and later will be presented with a jeweled sword by the Kansas City Italian colony.

WARM WELCOME IS GIVEN FRENCH HERO BY U. S. OFFICIALS

Is Also Greeted With Cheers Everywhere—Accepted Homage With Becoming Modesty—Placed Wreath on Tomb of George Washington the Father of His Country.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Marshal Ferdinand Foch, soldier of France and citizen of the world, today received, thru President Harding and other high government officials, the official thanks of the American people for having led its sons to victory in the World War.

Unofficial Washington, represented by the man in the street, the clerks in the government offices and the women at home, also joined in paying tribute to the distinguished French soldier, who declared that he was deeply impressed with the warmth of his greeting.

Cheering crowds greeted him everywhere. While the average Washingtonian has become accustomed to the presence of notables, there was no mistaking the warmth of the greeting extended to the little gray-haired man who humbled the army from across the Rhine. The cheers that he received came from the hearts as well as the lips and throats of those who uttered them.

The marshal accepted the homage paid him with becoming modesty. His right hand frequently came to his cap in salute and smiles played across his features. He accepted the requests of newspapers and motion picture photographers, who trailed him everywhere, with good grace, but always seemed to breathe a sigh of relief when these formalities were over.

Wreath on Washington's Tomb

When he reached Mount Vernon late in the afternoon a distinct change came over his countenance. The smile was gone. He visited Washington's tomb where he laid a beautiful wreath of roses and chrysanthemums on the grave of the "father of our country."

There was no speech-making. A colored attendant opened the iron gates to let him inside. He laid the wreath on the tomb and stood in silent prayer for several minutes.

Before visiting the tomb the marshal was taken through the Washington homestead by Harrison Dodge, superintendent. The original Houdon bust of Washington was pointed out to him in one of the lower rooms and he spent several minutes inspecting it. Then he went upstairs to the bedrooms and signed his name in the official guest book.

The marshal took a deep interest in his visit through the house, frequently asking questions about history of various objects and inquiring how much of the house was old and how much restored. He told members of his party that viewed from the road the place was like any one of thousands farms, but once he was inside the grounds and saw the beautiful trees, rich in autumn foliage of many colors and the broad expanse of the river, he realized its great attraction.

Commented on the simplicity of the place.

"It was characteristic of the man himself," he said. Starting at 10 o'clock this morning the marshal first paid his respects to President Harding at the White house and then went to the capitol, where he was received by Vice President Coolidge who hailed him as "the man who saved both France and America."

Later he called at the state department where he was received by Secretary Hughes and at the war department where General Pershing and Assistant Secretary Wainwright greeted him. At the navy department he shook hands with Secretary Denby and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt.

The official party then motored to the home of former President Wilson where Brig. Gen. W. D. Connor, who is acting as honorary military aide, was informed that Mr. Wilson was not receiving visitors.

General Connor inquired about the former President Wilson's health and then left the marshal's card. Inquiry later developed that Mr. Wilson had suffered a slight digestive upset. A return visit was next paid to the capitol, where cards were left for Chief Justice Taft, who was not at his office as the supreme court is in a brief recess.

EMBEZZLEMENT RECORDS READY IN SMALL CASE

Only Await Filing of New Bond by Governor Small.

(By The Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 29.—Records in the Small-Curtis embezzlement case will be ready for transfer next week to Waukegan if Governor Small appears in court to renew the $50,000 bond given to Sheriff Mester when the governor was arrested August 3. Circuit Clerk Charles Koehn said tonight. The old sheriff's bond is null the governor's guarantee to face trial for embezzlement of state treasury funds.

Mr. Koehn plans to deliver the records in person to the circuit clerk of Lake county. If the governor renews his bond by next Thursday the records will probably be on their way to Waukegan by that time. Clerk Koehn said.

Work of making the records for the trial at Waukegan was expedited by the stipulation that the original affidavits filed in the case would be used instead of certified copies. This arrangement simplifies the work materially as State's Attorney Mortimer filed 2,002 supporting affidavits with his answer to the petitions of Governor Small and Vernon Curtis for a change of venue from Sangamon county.

The governor's petition was accompanied by close to 100 affidavits.

The bonds of both Curtis and Lieutenant Governor Sterling, given before Judge Smith are not subject to renewal as in the governor's case.

Governor Small has declared that he hoped the trial would be over by Christmas. Despite his apparent willingness to proceed with the case and the assertion by State's Attorney Mortimer that the prosecution is ready, observers of the sensational case predict that preliminary and delays will necessarily place an early beginning of the trial close to the holidays in which event it was believed the trial would not begin before next January.

The first move after the records are sent to Lake county will be up to the defense.

SMALL'S COUNSEL READY FOR TRIAL

(By The Associated Press)
DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 29.—C. C. LeForge of Decatur, chief counsel for Governor Small, said today that he is ready for the case to come to trial. He will be in Chicago Monday to consult with his associates to put the finishing touches on weeks of preparation. "It is going to be a long battle," said Mr. LeForge. It is his opinion that the trial will last from four to six weeks. He believes that it cannot be kept before the first Monday in December.

LIVING IS CHEAP IN FAR ANATOLIA

The Only Trouble is That One Can't Walk—Whole Cows Sell for $9.

With Greek Army in the Field. (By A. P.)—Americans who find life expensive would secure unbounded relief if they could come to Anatolia.

In the area of the Greek army passed in its advance on Angora, lambs sell for 69 cents each, chickens for 12 cents, whole cows for $9 and eggs for half a cent. Everywhere food is found in great abundance and at prices such as America never heard of before the war.

The fertile fields of Anatolia rival those of the most productive American state. Wheat is the principal commodity of the thirty Turkish and Kurd farmers. They raise sufficient quantities to feed a continent. When King Constantine's army made its memorable 300-mile advance from Ushak into the heart of the Anatolian country, it found hundreds of thousands of tons of wheat and grain. It is the plan of the Greek government to market this huge treasure in an effort to bring the Greek currency back to par.

The Greeks also found incalculable numbers of cattle and sheep. Cows, oxen and water buffalo swarm the plains of Asia Minor, while the famous Angora goats and Caraman sheep are so numerous that they sell for about the price of a pound of mutton in any American city.

It is this great cornucopia that has made it possible for Mustafa Kemal's army to subsist so long without outside assistance. It is also this great abundance that has kept the Greek forces going. Their onward march to Angora would not have been possible upon the meagre food supplies they have been able to transport from Smyrna and Greece.

The only thing scarce in Anatolia, particularly in the southern part, is water. The territory over which the Greek troops made their recent remarkable detour in order to catch Kemal's army is made up largely of desert land and barren hills, with water only at distant intervals. For days the weary soldiers had to march under the burning Asia sun without a drop of water to relieve their parched throats.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST PHOTOPLAY COMES TO THE RIALTO MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

Many Thrills and an All-Star Cast in "The Affairs of Anatol."

When a man is kept waiting an hour for breakfast while his wife is enjoying an ultra-luxurious toilette, he is more than apt to get sore. That is why Anatol DeWitt Spencer was peeved and when Vivian, his wife, sought to mollify him with kisses, his anger grew.

But Vivian did not reflect that there might be too much "honey in the honeymoon," or perhaps she might have acted differently.

At the famous Green Room Cafe, where Anatol, Vivian and Max Runyon, a family friend, were dining, Anatol recognizes in Emille Dixon, a thoughtless young woman and protégé of Gordon Bronson, a wealthy roue, a companion of his school days. When he learns the truth, he tries to reform her by providing her with a richly appointed apartment. When she kisses him, he obtains from her a promise to throw the gems given her by Bronson, into the river. She hides the jewelry and together they cast the empty case into the river and Emille proceeds to make merry with her friends at which champagne flows freely.

Anatol interrupts the festivities orders the guests out and wrecks Emille's apartment. As Emille returns to Bronson, Anatol takes Vivian into the country where they might be free from hypocrisy and frail men and women. But meanwhile, Anne Elliott, wife of a church treasurer, confesses that she has stolen the church funds entrusted to his care and when he thrusts her from their humble home, she determines upon suicide. She jumps into the river just as Anatol and Vivian are rowing by. They rescue the girl and resuscitate her. While Vivian hurries for a physician, Anatol makes Anne's lot more comfortable. His purse slipping out of his pocket, Anne appropriates it and she kisses him just as Vivian drives up in an automobile with a physician. Vivian is shocked and writing a note telling him she is thru with him, she pins it to a tree and drives away.

When Anne leaves with Anatol's purse, he makes the discovery that he has been deceived and goes in search of Vivian. He finds the note and being penniless, is forced to walk home. Anne gives the money to her husband with the explanation that it had been given to her by an old man to help her out of her trouble and he takes both Anne and the money to his heart.

At a party given at the home of Anatol, Vivian is hypnotized by an East Indian necromancer and believing that she is to wade a stream as suggested by the hypnotist, she removes her shoes and stockings to the great amusement of the society folk present. Anatol carries her off after ordering the hypnotist to wake her, and in disgust announces that he purposes to hunt up the wickedest woman in New York. He meets Satan Synne, a dancer who is reputed to be extraordinarily wicked, and she invites him to her mysterious retreat.

Anatol is infatuated and he is unaware that Satan is the loving wife of a disabled young soldier whose life depends upon an operation which will cost $3,000 and which she lacks.

When Anatol appears she decides to wring the money from him and orders the operation to take place. Anatol writes a check for the money without knowing just why and she shows him her bedroom which is guarded by a panther. Anatol is horrified and returning to Satan finds her in a faint with a telephone receiver lying by her side. He talks to a surgeon who reveals the truth regarding Satan's husband, and convinced that the "wickedest" woman in New York really was one of the best wives in the world, he slips the check into her hand and makes his escape.

Returning home, Anatol finds Vivian and Max have been out all night. His suspicions are aroused and the hypnotist appearing at this juncture, he orders him to hypnotize Vivian so that he may question her. But this proves unnecessary for her innocence is apparent and waking her, he tells her of his love and they are reconciled and happy.

CARRY OUT LONG CORN EXPERIMENT

Have Conducted Breeding Experiment at State University for Twenty-five Generations—Results Have Been Satisfactory

URBANA, Ill.—(By the A. P.)—What is probably the longest corn-breeding experiment in existence is being conducted by the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Illinois. The breeding has been continued for twenty-five generations with records continuing unbroken from the beginning.

Out of a single variety of ordinary corn, four different kinds with respect to the composition of the grain, have been created, one in which the protein content has been increased from 10.92 per cent to 14.70 per cent, while another has been reduced from the original figure to 6.46 per cent.

Similarly high and low oil strains have been developed out of this same original variety and last year the high oil crop contained 9.05 per cent of oil as compared with 1.77 per cent in the low oil strain. The original corn, twenty-five years ago, contained 4.70 per cent.

Selection of such characters as height of ears, position of ears on stalks, and number of ears per stalk has also been carried on with very marked response. In last year's crop the high ears were eighty-four inches from the ground, while the low were fifteen inches. Another character modified through this experiment was the erect and declining ear strain. Last year the erect ears stood at twenty-six degrees from the perpendicular and the declining ears hung at 131 degrees. After fourteen years of selection for two-eared stock of what was originally a single-eared variety, accounts last year showed eighty-five per cent of the stalks bearing two or more ears. This selection seems to have been attended by a small increase in yield.

The purpose of this project is to test the principle of continuous selection as applied to such a complex plant character as yield. The experience of seven generations has brought out the inherent difficulty in this line of work; however the selection has produced a strain that is out-yielding one of the best old standard varieties. As a six-year average, the new high yielding strain yielded fifty-five bushels per acre alongside the standard Reid's Yellow Dent, which made fifty-one bushels.

Similar experiments with the breeding of the smaller grains is also being carried on. A result of one of these was that of the development of a new grade of wheat, Turkey Red 10-110, which out-yielded its predecessor six bushels to the acre on a five year average.

TEARING DOWN FIRST U. S. COURT HOUSE

First Court Was Held in Muskogee April 1, 1889—Wore Plug Hats Which Were Soon Discarded.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 29.—(The A. P.)—The first United States court house in Oklahoma is being torn down to make way for progress. It is a plain two-story frame building at Ninth and Broadway here and although regarded as one of the most historical structures in this vicinity no effort was made to save it. The site is soon to be occupied by a two-story brick building.

The courthouse was first erected at Main and Okmulgee streets in 1886. It remained there for many years when progress crowded it out and it was then moved to its present location. The first federal court in Oklahoma was held in the building on April 1, 1889. All of the court officials resided in other states and when they arrived, most all Muskogee was down to the train to meet them. In the party was Judge J. W. Shackelford and Major William Nelson, both of Evansville, Ind., the first judge and first clerk of the court. A. Z. Waldron of Osborne, Kan., the first prosecuting attorney, and Tom E. Needles of Nashville, Ill., first United States marshal.

They were all attired in "plug" hats and frock coats they quickly discarded for less pretentious clothes when informed that cow punchers who roamed the local wilds at that time were not amiss to taking "pot shots" at such adornments.

Court opened promptly at 9 o'clock that morning with the Rev. B. Y. Brice, a Methodist minister, saying a prayer. The opening session was attended by a crowd that filled every bit of available space in the court room. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon court was resumed for the purpose of admitting attorneys to the bar. Judge N. B. Maxey of Muskogee, former member of the Oklahoma supreme court, was the fourth attorney to be admitted. He also tried the first case, a replevin suit over a horse.

Outside of Muskogee the court attracted little attention until the latter part of the month when the original Oklahoma was opened. Then attorneys flocked here by the wholesale with all sorts of applications for injunctions and all sorts of law suits growing out of oil discoveries. Judge Maxey today recalled one suit he brought against a defendant at Beaver in what was then known as "No Man's Land." It required three weeks for a deputy United States marshal to serve the papers and the fees alone amounted to $150.

The jurisdiction of the court extended from the New Mexico line to Missouri and from Kansas to Texas, and Fort Smith, Ark., retained jurisdiction over criminal cases in Oklahoma. It was not until May 2, 1890, that congress enlarged the jurisdiction of the local court over certain classes of felony cases.

Twins Are Now Ninety Years of Age and Still Work on Farm—Went to Kansas in Pioneer Days.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan.—(By the A. P.)—Joel and James Cheatwood, ninety years old, who came to Kansas more than sixty years ago, declare they found on their Leavenworth county farms the "fountain of youth." Any one may find it, most anywhere, if he seeks it before he is overcome by years, these pioneers agree. There is nothing mysterious about their youth-retaining recipe. It's just common, every day, hard work.

The Cheatwood "boys" recently celebrated their ninetieth birthday with a genuine party. Relatives and friends from far and near gathered at Joel's home. The two hosts appeared in the best of health and humor. So closely do they resemble each other that it is difficult to tell them apart. They are the oldest twins in Kansas, they assert. "We'll both be having our birthday parties," remarked Joel. "Then ten years from today we will be inviting you all to come help us celebrate when we start a new century."

"I believe I've worked as hard as any man that ever crossed the Missouri river," continued Joel. "If it wasn't for work, I'd have been dead long ago. Have to keep on working to keep up my strength and because I like to." The brothers may be seen daily working in their fields. The day before the party, for instance, Joel put in a full day's work mowing weeds, getting land prepared for sowing wheat; Jim cleaned up a twenty-acre field by burning off dry grass.

"Never seriously considered retiring," declared Jim. "I try to get all the joy I can out of life. That's why I keep on working; because I like it. Couldn't stand loafing day in and day out. I can do as much work in a day right now as some of these 'young sprouts.'"

The Cheatwood twins were born in Stokes county, North Carolina, October 11, 1831. Joel located in Kansas in 1857 and in 1865 purchased 103 acres of land in this county, which continues to be his home. Since then he has bought an additional 137 acres, making a total of 240 acres. Mrs. Joel is ten years her husband's junior. They have seven children, two of them twin daughters now thirty-three years old; ten grandchildren and four great grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Joel celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary last January 20. Jim Cheatwood came to Kansas a year before his brother, in 1856. He has no children. Of his sixty-five years residence in the Sunflower state, he has lived sixty-three in Leavenworth county on the same farm.

"I have sold off several hundred acres of land and have kept just enough to keep me busy," Jim related. "I have fifty acres left; just about right to keep me out of mischief." "Farm hands are hard to get and not very satisfactory. I'd rather do the work myself."

The brothers' farms are little more than a mile apart. Almost daily they exchange visits, the intervening distance still being considered "just a little walk" by them. Neither ever has had any use for a cane and they read the daily newspapers without glasses. Both Jim and Joel have a penchant for humor. Attired in their "Sunday clothes" at the party, their long beards, facial countenance and general stature being as much alike as "two peas in a pod," they found much amusement in the apparent difficulty some of their guests had in determining whether they were addressing Jim or Joel.

DEMOCRATS FEAR FIGHT AT MEETING

Washington, Oct. 29.—George White, chairman of the Democratic national committee and several other party leaders left here tonight for St. Louis to attend the committee's meeting opening November 1.

The party leaders upon their departure expressed themselves as uncertain whether a "fight or frolic" would develop at St. Louis. There were several reports that a move might develop at this meeting to oust Mr. White from the chairmanship, but several prominent Democrats said every possible effort would be made to continue party harmony.

DR. BLACK'S ART COLLECTION TO BE SHOWN

On Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 2, at 2 p. m., there will be a free exhibit of Dr. Carl E. Black's personal collection of rare antique, classical and modern Greek art at the Dr. David Strawn Memorial, 331 West College avenue.

This is the first time this collection has been placed so it could be seen all together, rare specimens of ancient Greece gained thru excavation in the islands and on the main peninsula, 200 pictures of classical Greece, especially those secured by the excavations of the American college during the past twenty years, statuettes, theaters and temples, and modern Greece in all its beauty, pictures of 200 hospitals (in these of course Dr. Black was especially interested); pictures of the refugees of the world war and most interesting views taken in Bulgaria.

Dr. Black has erected a stand in the ante room upon which will be placed some 400 slides, and these can be thrown upon the curtain.

Those familiar with Greek art and Greek history will be glad to add to the pleasure of visitors who are most cordially invited by the Art association of Jacksonville to enjoy this unusual treat, prepared and so generously extended to our citizens who are interested in all that is beautiful in art and history. Jacksonville is indeed most fortunate in having a citizen who could bring the old and the new world to our doors, and so free of expense to us and the weariness of travel, place his treasures before us for our information and enjoyment. All are most cordially invited.

Mary Turner Carriel, President Art Association.

These pictures were secured by Dr. Black as illustrations for the daily diary that he kept while in the Red Cross service and will ultimately be bound in with the written records. The exhibit will be found of especial value to students in schools and colleges who are engaged in the study of history.

It is Dr. Black's hope to show 100 of the stereoscopic views with a stereopticon on one night during the exhibit, which is to continue from Wednesday afternoon thru Sunday.

FARMERS WILL NOT USE CORN FOR FUEL

Only Corn That Will be Used Is That Unfit for Feeding.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—(By A. P.)—Illinois farmers will not use sound corn for fuel this winter according to leading officials of the Illinois Agricultural association and county farm bureaus.

The only corn being burned, it is said, is corn unfit for feeding stock. This was declared at the headquarters of the Illinois association today, has given birth to the rumors about burning of corn for fuel this winter.

Replies to an inquiry sent by telegraph by the Illinois Agricultural association to eight of the leading corn growing counties brought denials that any good corn was being burned.

"Have heard of no corn being burned in this county, except corn which is moldy and suitable for no other purpose," was the reply from the Livingston County Farm Bureau at Pontiac.

"Six to eight bushels of corn per hundred which is dangerous to stock is the only corn burned here," was the reply from the Champaign Farm Bureau.

"Rotten corn will run from five to twenty per cent in different fields," was the advice from the Tazewell County Farm Bureau. "This is the only corn being burned."

Like replies were received by telegraph from the Peoria, Tazewell, LaSalle, Piatt and McLean county farm bureaus.

"Such rumors," declared Howard Leonard, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, "as the prevailing stories about using corn for fuel are a regrettable feature of every low price era. They evidently started when some imaginative person saw a farmer making a bonfire in his yard out of rotten corn which would have injured his stock."

"The Illinois farmer knows that the price of his corn is away out of line with what he is paying for his necessities, but unfounded rumors that he is going to burn good corn are an insult to him. The idea of burning the crop he has worked so hard to produce is repugnant to him and he will make any other kind of a sacrifice first. So far he has been silently taking his losses and hoping by hard work, increased production and more efficient marketing to bring his prices back to normal. And from a practical point of view, corn would have to go much lower and coal much higher before it would pay to use the former as fuel."

CENTRE COLLEGE WINS FROM HARVARD TEAM

"Bo" McMillen Beats Eastern School Single Handed by Running 31 Yards for Touchdown—Gives Wonderful Exhibition of Football in All Its Leading Essentials.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 29.—The South was victorious at the stadium today. Men from Centre College of Kentucky, "Praying Colonels" and football players of high degree with "Bo" McMillen driving them on, defeated the Harvard eleven by a score of 6 to 0.

The representatives of the smallest college on the Crimson schedule had accomplished what no other team had been able to do in forty years—defeated Harvard in an inter-sectional battle. It was five years since the Crimson had met defeat on its own or any other field.

The victory belonged to the redoubtable "Bo" McMillen, backed by his mates of an alert and aggressive team. A well knit defensive line held Harvard safe, McMillen thwarted time after time, seized his opportunity in the third period and broke thru the Harvard line, reversing part of his opposing field and evading the others for a 31 yard run and a touchdown.

It was a brilliant piece of football work, calling into play all the elements of early interference, straight-arm evasion, change of pace, slanting runs and forward dash. For yards McMillen raced within inches of the edge of the playing field but always "inside" and his touchdown was unquestioned.

The failure of Bartlett to complete the touchdown with a goal left the margin of victory McMillen's alone. It was his day.

Centre reversed the defeat received under McMillen's leadership at the stadium last year with McMillen the leader again. An injury to Armstrong had forced the Centre captain of this year out of the game late in the third period and the end of the game found "Bo" back in the captaincy that he had relinquished so that another man might have a chance.

With the sound of the final whistle, Referee "Tim" Maxwell picked up the pigskin, turned to Centre's acting captain and said: "McMillen here's your ball." McMillen took it with hasty thanks, danced up the field with it then turned back and was overtaken by fellow players who raised his cheek, raised him on their shoulders and carried him into a massing crowd that soon numbered hundreds.

Altho Harvard in the fourth period had planted the ball on Centre's threshold, three yards from the goal, only to have it called back to the 32-yard line because of an offside play, there was no question that the Kentuckians were the better team.

"Bo" McMillen, coach of the Harvard team that won last year and of the team that lost today, paid tribute, where he said it was due:

"I extend my heartiest congratulations to the Centre College team," he said to The Associated Press after the game. "They played a clean game, a good game, and showed that they were a very well drilled team. In 'Bo' McMillen, Centre had a man who was probably the hardest in the country to stop. The Harvard's men in today's game gave the best they had."

The game marked the second of the season's defeats of famous eastern university eleven, Chicago having won from Princeton last week. After years of virtually unbroken victories by eastern eleven these defeats were accepted by followers of football with a national perspective as an indication that the gospel and the practice of that gridiron game were having a greater spread than ever before in sections removed from the scene of its origin and great play development.

Centre College in winning today showed that an institution with a few hundred students could cope in modern football play with one of several thousand undergraduates; that a team of comparatively recent development could win from one with Harvard's gridiron tradition and the coaching system behind it. The team that faced the southerners at the outset was not the same varsity eleven that will lineup against Princeton and Yale, but most of the first string Harvard players got into the game before it was over.

Centre's finished eleven, of today was a far more finished eleven than that of a year ago. Its men drilled in line play, expert in interference, equipped with play that carried to the mind of the most novice an appreciation of their conception and execution.

Harvard was not as good as a week ago in the spectacular game with Penn State. The backs bungled assignments, juggling the ball when they did not fumble. Buell, called into the game for a field goal in the second period missed by a wide margin under the Centre charge and later failed again in an effort to boot a drop kick for goal.

Harvard's best accomplishment of the afternoon was the holding of Centre for downs on their eight yard line at the outset of the third period.

The first period was to Centre's advantage altho a substitution failed in attempted field goal from the 36-yard line.

The second was marked by a Harvard rushing advance from the Crimson's 47-yard line to Centre's 10-yard stripe, where Buell missed a chance for a field goal.

Punt exchanges consumed the rest of the play.

Centre had kicked off at the beginning of the third period and Harvard had rushed once, then punted back when the way was opened for McMillen's winning touchdown. The ball was run back by Bartlett from one 45-yard line to the other. Penalty for tripping by a Harvard man sent Centre forward to Harvard's 31-yard line. The ball was snapped by McMillen and he made as if to pass it to Suddaby but ran himself instead. Interferers cleared the way for him until they were put out of play, then "Bo" went ahead alone.

Changing pace and direction, but traveling fast, he slipped thru all but three of the Harvard defenders. These he evaded one after another, skirting the eastern edge of the field until he was able to dash straight ahead for a touchdown.

Bartlett failed on the try for goal.

Harvard was reinforced in the last period to meet the southern invaders but was unable to score, only holding Centre away from the goal.

S. Robey Burns is Athletic Director of the State School for the Deaf. Team Wants Game With High School Teams in This Section.

S. Robey Burns, athletic director of the State School for the Deaf has organized a football team and would like to book games with high school teams in this section of the country.

In years gone by some of the greatest teams ever seen in this section were developed at the School for the Deaf. We have in mind one team that was coached by Caldwell of Cornell, an all American guard along sometime about 1903. This team could whip almost any minor college team and went thru the entire season undefeated.

In recent years, however, athletics went into decline at the school. However, the new managing officer is strong for athletics and the state will give the athletic program full support. For this reason Mr. Burns was brought on the job.

Coach Burns is a graduate of Gallaudet college at Washington. He was a star lineman at the school. In conversation with the sports writer of the Journal last night Mr. Burns said that the late William Tilton induced him to go to Gallaudet.

Thirty men are in the squad at the state school. Owing to the fact that they have not had football here for several years, Coach Burns has had his work cut out as he has been compelled to teach his squad the rudiments of the game.

They have picked it up rapidly and now are rounding into a well oiled machine. Coach Burns has a game with the Missouri School for the Deaf to be played at Fulton, Mo., on November 19. The team will play the Pleasant Hill high school November 12. He would like to get a game for next Saturday, Nov. 5.

Any team wishing to book a game may write to S. Robey Burns, Athletic Director, at the State School for the Deaf, Jacksonville, Illinois.

NEBRASKA ROMPED OVER OKLAHOMA

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 29.—Nebraska romped over Oklahoma today on a 200-yard field, winning by a score of 43 to 0 and setting a pace which partisans of the Cornhuskers believe makes the Nebraska eleven a serious contender for the Missouri championship.

SECOND HIGH LOSES TO PLEASANT HILL

The J. H. S. second eleven was defeated at Pleasant Hill yesterday afternoon by a score of 53 to 0. The seconds came home with several injuries. Sanders sustained an ankle and Hozland received a kick in the kidneys which put him out of the game.

The game was played under adverse conditions as half the field was under water. The local boys were outwitted by their rivals, a fact which counted against them on the slippery field.

AGUSTANA WON FROM MONMOUTH

Monmouth, Ill., Oct. 29.—In a show game on a water soaked field, Augustana College of Rock Island defeated Monmouth 19 to 7 here today. Monmouth scored in the last three minutes of play on a long forward pass.

LAKE FOREST DOWNS MARQUETTE ACADEMY

Lake Forest, Ill., Oct. 29.—The Lake Forest Academy football team today defeated Marquette Academy 21 to 0. The game was played in several inches of mud.

JACKSONVILLE WINS FROM PEORIA MANUAL

Locals Continue Winning Streak By Taking Peoria Into Camp 14 to 0—Game Played on Heavy Field.

Jacksonville high continued its winning streak by taking the Peoria Manual team into camp at Peoria by a score of 14 to 0. The game was played on a heavy field and straight football was the order of the day.

The Peoria team presented a strong resistance to the locals. They were taller, but had little advantage in weight and their team work was not as good as Jacksonville's.

Neither team was able to score in the first quarter. In the second quarter Jacksonville worked the ball to the Peoria goal and Hoppner was sent over for a touchdown and Hunt kicked goal.

The second score of the locals came in the fourth quarter. Jacksonville again employed straight football to get the ball within striking distance and Hunt made the touchdown and kicked goal.

In the excitement over the victory Coach Mitchell got lost from his men and some of them got on the train and came home. Their finances were rather low and it was necessary to get a check cashed at Bloomington to pay their way down on the Alton. The coach missed the train and will not be able to get home until some time today.

All of the Jacksonville team played good football. The line again did its full duty and repelled all of Peoria's attacks while the backfield broke up their passes and on the offense tore up the Peoria line. All of the men came thru the game without any injuries aside from a few black eyes and scratches and will be ready to begin work Monday for the game with Waverly at that place next Saturday.

TWO LEADERS WILL CLASH NEXT SATURDAY

Ohio and Chicago Meet at Chicago—One of Teams Will Probably Receive Setback.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 29.—Two leaders of Western football will clash next Saturday when Ohio State, conqueror of Minnesota and Michigan, invades Chicago to try to turn back the Maroons, successful twisters of the Princeton tigers tail. The engagement may go a long way toward deciding the Big Ten championship.

This will be the second invasion of Chicago by the Ohioans, who last year barely finished in front of the Maroons by a 7 to 6 score. Chicago is rated as far stronger this year than last—both collectively and individually—while Ohio State, with probably better team play, is without the services of its all-American halfback, Pete Stinchcomb, and other letter men of a year ago.

Buckeye scouts regard the Maroons as Ohio's hardest opponents this year. They say Chicago is far smarter than last fall, while though its line is smaller, it is much more active.

To offset Rooney, Chicago's brilliant quarterback, Wilce has Johnny Stuart, his star sophomore halfback, who distinguished himself in the Michigan game. The Ohioans, however will depend more upon team-play than upon individual brilliancy. The work of Noel Workman, who succeeded his brother "Hoge" at quarter will bear watching.

The Ohioans probably will have something new in the way of an attack for Chicago's benefit, it is said here, while their line which has withstood the pounding of both Minnesota and Michigan, is expected to get its acid test against the Maroon offense. Ohio may have a slight advantage on the line in weight, but not enough to make any difference.

PRINCETON HUMILES VIRGINIA U

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 29.—Princeton stepped from the gloom of defeat into the sunshine of victory today afternoon smothering the University of Virginia under a score of 34 to 0. After suffering humiliation at the hands of the Navy and Chicago in its two previous games, the Tigers feasted heartily upon the carcass of the southerners, completely dazing them by a perfect aerial attack.

RUG COMPANY HAS FOOTBALL TEAM

The Doolin Avenue Rug company football team defeated the Moore Rug company team in a game of football Saturday afternoon on the Doolin Avenue Rug company's grounds resulting in a score of 60 to 0 in favor of the Doolin Avenue Rug company.

WASHINGTON C. WINS BY SAFETY

STEKETEE'S TOE BEATS ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

Scored Place for Michigan From Placement From 15 Yard Line in Second Period—Illinois Fought Stubbornly and Frequently Forced the Wolverines to Kick.

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 29.—Frank Steketee's intelligent boot carried Michigan to victory in a hard battle with Illinois today, 3 to 0. He outpunted Durant, the Illini kicker thruout the game and scored Michigan's lone tally near the end of the second period when he kicked from placement on the 15 yard line.

Michigan romped onto the field the favorite and set to rush the Illini. Coach Zuppke's men, however, played safe, forcing Michigan to punt frequently. Forward plays attempts failed to help Michigan and it was not until Cappon started a rally in mid-field that the Yost men began moving.

A nine yard plunge thru center and a five yard dash by Cappon gave Roby a chance to push the ball up to Illinois' 20 yard line.

The pair then worked the ball the Illinois 5-yard line, where Roby held tight, and on the follow down Steketee dropped back, boot goal from the 15-yard line mark.

Illinois showed great improvement over last week, especially avoiding fumbles, which were costly in the Wisconsin game, but, however, proved weak punting.

Crangle, the star Illini fullback, was forced out early by injury but Woodward filled his place in an effective manner, making a lot of Illinois real gains thru the line.

With Steketee's outstanding figure of the Michigan offense Roby and Cappon vied with each other in driving the ball three Illinois line by the aid of Cap Dunne at left guard. Today's game was the first for Michigan since the first of the conference three years ago.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL VISITOR HERE

Col. Edward Clifford Has Busy Business Life in Washington—Some Facts About Bureau Operations.

Col. Edward Clifford, assistant secretary of the treasury, was in Jacksonville last night for a few hours. Colonel Clifford spent Friday night and part of Saturday with his parents in Virginia and Saturday night with his wife's mother, Mrs. Belle S. Lambert, and friends in this city. He left on the "Hummer" at midnight to attend the national convention of the American Legion in Kansas City.

After his return from a government financial mission abroad and his release from the army service, Colonel Clifford devoted several months to the organization work of the American Legion and his interest has been of a very helpful kind. He was especially active in the organization work in this state, although he spent some time in nearby territory.

It was at the request of Gen. Charles G. Dawes, chief of the budget department of the United States that Colonel Clifford left a much more lucrative work with the Moline Finance Corporation to enter upon his duties as assistant secretary of the treasury. His exceptional record in business organization was the basic reason that General Dawes, with whom he had been associated socially and in a business way, urged his acceptance of the Washington post.

Heads Four Bureaus

As one of two assistant secretaries in the treasury department, Colonel Clifford has four bureaus under his direction. These include customs, coast guard, public health service, supervising architect's office and public buildings.

The customs service has nearly 10,000 employees, stationed at all of the ports and in the large cities collecting revenue on imported merchandise. The revenue collected through the department in the last fiscal year amounted to $308,000,000.

There are 6,000 persons associated with the coast guard work, which includes the control of revenue cutters on the lakes and seas. The function of the cutters is to keep an eye on smugglers and the proper control of the waters approaching the American ports. This bureau also has charge of the life saving service stations throughout the country.

The public health service includes 14,000 attaches located in all parts of the country, many of them in connection with the hospitals which are now in operation. The public health service includes the health work in connection with the immigration department and so extends overseas as 36 physicians and officers are located abroad in charge of the medical inspection of foreigners who are seeking to become citizens of the United States.

In these days the hospital feature of the department work is especially important and the facts from this department give quite a clear view of the stupendous work the government is doing for the ex-service men.

Colonel Clifford has the general supervision of the last appropriation made by congress for this purpose, amounting to $18,600,000, and 41 different hospital projects are now under way.

Samuel Dunlap, who has been ill for some time at Our Savior's hospital is reported much better.

care or institutional training is costing $500,000,000 annually.

The fourth bureau under Colonel Clifford's direction relates as indicated to the supervising architect's office, and public buildings. There are in the United States 1,500 public buildings under the direct care of 5,000 custodians. The erection of buildings for which congress provides passes automatically under the supervision of this bureau.

These general facts with relation to the duties and responsibilities of the assistant secretary of the treasury were given by Colonel Clifford last night in answer to the questions of Jacksonville friends.

A man in Colonel Clifford's position who earnestly measures up to the work cannot plan his daily work schedule on an eight-hour basis and persons familiar with the daily life of this former Jacksonville man and alumnus of Illinois college, know that midnight very often finds him at his office desk.

The Approachable President

President Harding keeps in close touch with the general work of the departments and bureaus. Part of this is done by direct contact with the members of the cabinet and very frequently he takes these matters up direct with the assistant secretaries.

For this son the assistant secretaries are often summoned to the White House for conference with the president. Colonel Clifford said last night that because of this fact he has frequently had the honor of such association with the president. He said that government officials who came into private personal contact with President Harding know him as a most approachable and democratic man. He mingles with government workers, newspaper men and others in a way which few presidents have adopted, and yet without the slightest loss of dignity.

The wonder is, Colonel Clifford said, that President Harding is able to remain so tremendously strain under which he labors, especially in these reconstruction days, and yet for all this strain and stress, finds time for personally meeting a vast number of citizens. One afternoon recently the president shook hands with 3,500 people and said that he really enjoyed it and received inspiration from every one with whom he meets.

Believes Worst Days Over

Colonel Clifford is not one of the men familiar with general business and financial conditions who takes the excessively optimistic view that big and profitable business conditions are coming immediately. He does believe, however, that the worst days are over, that the corner has been turned and that prosperity will come in a progressive way with the hoped-for higher levels to be reached gradually.

Like some other financial men it is his belief that business must be done on a different basis in the coming days. There must be more personal economy and a similar frugality displayed in the methods of business operation. The almost old-fashioned virtue of thrift must become a ruling factor.

Still another democratic figure in Washington and with whom Colonel Clifford is in almost constant contact is his chief, Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury. Mr. Mellon, rated as one of the wisest men in the world, was induced to undertake the work of the treasury department as a matter of honor and public service. He is a man of unusually retiring spirit but a deep thinker and a prodigious worker. Mr. Mellon brings to the difficult governmental and international finances a wonderful personal experience in business and the government is fortunate in having enlisted his mind and his heart for his present work.

Influence of Knox.
It was stated recently in reference to the sudden death of Senator Knox that it was largely through the senator's influence that President Harding persuaded Mr. Mellon to become a member of the cabinet.

It may be worth while to mention again in this connection that the heads of departments and bureaus in Washington don't undertake this work because of the salaries attached. There are in the treasury department 160 men who draw salaries in excess of that of the assistant secretaries.

It has long been known to be a fact that foreign representatives of the United States do not receive salaries that anywhere near equal their expenditures and the same thing is evidently true of many of the men at Washington. Thus, government service, becomes very largely a matter of patriotism.

BEGIN DECORATING FOR HALLOWE'EN

Public Square Made Ready for Big Celebration—Costumes May Be Secured at Elks Home.

Decorating work for the big Halloween festival was begun on the square yesterday, fodder and pumpkins being hauled in from nearby farms. These will be set up near the lights and it is expected to have everything ready for the big celebration by Monday noon.

According to the plans that have been made the big parade will form at the northwest corner of the square near the Chamber of Commerce rooms and will be started as near 7 o'clock as possible. It will circle the square several times in order to give the judges ample opportunity to select the best costumes. The parade will be led by the Jacksonville band, assisted by the Illinois college band and the Woodson band, which will make a total of nearly fifty pieces. It is earnestly requested that all of the revelers will follow the band and make the parade a great success.

If there is anyone that has not yet secured a costume there are plenty left for rent at the Elks' home, which can be had for a small cost.

Arrangements will be made to give the merry-makers plenty of room for the festival. At 7 o'clock the square will be roped off so that there will be no vehicles in the way. A lot of credit is due Manager Ehrigott and Director Johnson for making it possible to have the largest band ever used in this city for the parade, without a cent of cost.

The city authorities have made a special request that no confetti be used as it would be almost impossible to clean the park afterwards.

Silks at $1.49 are cheap. You should see them at Floreth's, East Side. Taffetas, Messalines, Shirtings, Fancy Lining Silks, Crepe de Chine and Georgette Crepes. More than 1000 yards to choose from at $1.49.

COMMUNITY FORUM PLANS ANNOUNCED

Congregational Church Has Secured Fine List of Speakers for Coming Series.

The Community Forum will open the season at the Congregational church on Sunday evening Nov. 6 with an address by Fred G. Bale on "Undeclared Enemies of Democracy." Mr. Bale is one of America's most forceful and popular orators and has been quite properly styled the "Lindsey of the East."

As a college student he captured all oratorical honors. After he began the practice of law, he became prosecutor of the Columbus, Ohio, Juvenile Court, one of the most noted of the pioneer juvenile courts, where he handled annually 1,500 cases of juvenile delinquency and studied "bad kids" and the conditions of society that are back of the problem. In the constitutional campaign in Ohio he brought to the platform the force of the trained orator who had been active in forward movements and could do constructive work. Later he made over 1,000 addresses in Ohio on the liquor issue based on his court experiences with the effects of liquor on family life. For several years he has given his entire time to college work and the lecture platform and has been heard all over our country on the great questions of the day.

To his addresses he brings the ability of a great orator, the analysis of a skilled debater, the habits of exhaustive research and scholarship of a college professor and combined with these burning energizing inspiration, earnest conviction, optimistic enthusiasm and the aggressive power and forcefulness of an experienced leader and social reformer.

Mr. Bale appeared at the chautauqua here several years ago and delighted everyone. The many requests for a return engagement could not be granted because Mr. Bale has been in other sections in August. The forum managers feel that no finer speaker could have been found to open the season.

On Nov. 6, Louis Wallis, author of "Sociological Study of the Bible, The Struggle for Justice and other books, will speak on "The Great Social Awakening and Religion." Mr. Wallis is a man of wide experience, constructive and vital in his interpretations, because in social justice, 100 per cent Americanism and is against "Reds" and does not believe that churches should mix up in politics or stand for any "isms."

His books are of wide circulation and are used in theological seminaries and private study. Mr. Wallis has spoken in Jacksonville before. His coming at this time with a new lecture will please those who have heard him.

On Nov. 20 Mr. Henry Rathbone, former President of the Hamilton Club of Chicago, will speak on the timely subject "Disarmament and the Peace Conference." Mr. Rathbone is a fine lawyer who has given exhaustive study to public questions and one of Illinois' greatest living orators. His ancestry has been prominent in American history. His grandfather, Ira Harris, was a senator from New York during the Lincoln administration. Incidentally, his father and mother were in the President's private box with Lincoln when the latter was shot. Mr. Rathbone is a Simon-pure American and his discussion of Disarmament while the Washington conference is in session will be well worth hearing.

Announcements of other speakers will be made in due course.

The Community Forum is a place for earnest people, uncommitted and unafraid, to learn how the other fellow thinks. Its object is the open, frank, fearless discussion of all matters of mutual concern in an orderly fashion with good will, dignity, toleration and courtesy. It endeavors to discuss matters of vital importance in the light of the teachings of Christ and to apply His principles to life. The forum carries with it the promise of establishing fresh contacts between the church and the masses.

The programs open with music and close with a question period when truth-seeking questions will be heard and answered with fairness and courtesy. The speakers will be men of wide reputation, specialists in their lines, who are accustomed to speaking to men of affairs and at Sunday evening clubs in the larger cities, lecture courses, chautauques, etc. No admission is charged to forum meetings, but a silver collection is taken to help defray expenses of speakers.

The Congregational church invites you to attend these Sunday evening services, which are satisfying and yet different. If interested in the purposes of the forum, the subjects to be discussed or the speakers, you are invited to come and take part in these meetings.

HARDIN COUNTY HAS MANY ILLITERATES

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill.—(By the A. P.)—Hardin county, Ill., which, according to the 1920 census figures, recently announced, has the highest percentage of illiteracy in this state, also boasts of fewer foreign-born citizens than any of the other 100 counties in Illinois.

The census figures show 7.8 per cent of the residents of the county can not write in any language. Chicago, with its thousands of foreign-born, has only 4.6 per cent illiteracy.

Hardin county's population, as was shown in the recent investigation of the flourpar mine strike by Adjutant General Frank Dickson, is almost entirely white native-born Americans. No foreigners are employed in the mines, and the Hardin county definition of the word "foreigner" includes everybody born outside the county.

Mining officials say a large percentage of their employees, mostly small hill farmers who "make a crop" in summer, and come to town to mine in winter, can not read or write.

Illiteracy will be stamped out by the time the coming generation is grown, school officials say. Rosiclare, the mining center, has just completed a two-story brick centralized school while modern country schools have been established throughout the country districts. The district schools are of the latest type, with entire sides of glass, which admits the maximum amount of light, and in fair weather, air.

SALVATION ARMY AT LEGION MEETING

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 29.—"Come and get it, buddy."

This is the cry with which the Salvation Army lassies will greet the veterans who attend the national convention of the American Legion here next week.

To the right and left of the street, as the veterans trudge by, will be doughnut dugouts bearing the name-plates of the Salvation Army.

A grand reunion of the doughnut and doughboy is planned. Many of the lassies will hand out doughnuts and hot coffee all during the convention served the boys overseas and are anxious to meet some of the buddies they knew over there.

"Doughnuts, Coffee and Salvation—Free" is the banner that will greet delegates and visitors to the convention. The password will be a uniform or a legion or service button.

With Morgan County Poets

Wordsworth's theory of poetry was that it should be emotion recollected in tranquillity. Most of us have the recollections, but the trouble is to find the proper words.

Since Wordsworth's day, various theories have been expounded by their advocates. The most recent one seems to be that emotions must be first hand, not recollected. Delay dulls their poignancy and picturesqueness. There is no longer any excuse for such a thing as meditation.

The pitiful result is "free verse"—and "jazz." Neither article is new; they are both as old as the hills. Only the names and their pretensions are new.

A prominent artist says in the New Republic: "What, I believe, has turned so many intelligent and sensitive people against jazz is the encouragement it has given to thousands of the stupid and vulgar to fancy that they can understand art, and to hundreds of the concerted to imagine that they can create it."

OCTOBER'S GIFTS

October's dresses are complete,
Her Autumn coats she's showing;
Gay sumac and the bittersweet
Upon her bosom glowing.

October's woods are red and brown,
The ripened nuts are falling;
From highest tree-tops or the down
Belated birds are calling.

The squirrels scurry to and fro,
From hole and tree-fork peeping,
Or whisking here and there they go
With store for Winter's keeping.

October fair, October rare,
Brown Autumn's perfect weather—
The days when happy lovers pair,
And long path take together.

October days are all too brief—
(Jack Frost's an early comer.)
October brings the falling leaf,
The haze of Indian Summer.

MAKING EFFORT TO DELIVER ROAD BONDS

Officials Are Working Overtime to Get Them Signed to Deliver as Soon After November 1 as Possible.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—Concerted efforts are being made by state officials to deliver as soon after Nov. 1 as possible, all of Illinois' first $5,000,000 worth of hard road bonds sold here Oct. 25 to the Continental & Commercial Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, high bidder in a spirited bond auction in which twenty-nine Chicago and New York banks competed.

All of the bonds, which are being issued in denominations of $1,000 each, must be signed by Gov. Small, Secretary of State Emmerson, State Treasurer Miller and State Auditor Russell. The grid of signing bonds as rapidly as they are delivered from the printing company has been tedious.

Elated over the bond sale, Gov. Small declared that it proved investors' faith in the state's road building program. The governor, when the bidding started, ventured the guess that the bonds would sell for $94 per $100 at least despite the prevailing bond market. The Continental & Commercial Bank, with the other five institutions in the syndicate which it represented, took the entire block at $94.02.

Pride in owning the first of the state's bonds was suggested by officials as one of the causes for the figure the road bonds brought.

The group from Chicago taking the block was composed of the Continental and Commercial Trust & Savings Bank, Harris Trust and Savings Bank, First Trust and Savings Bank, Illinois Trust and Savings Bank, Merchants Loan and Trust Company and Marshall Field, Glorie, Ward and Company.

WHITE HALL TO HAVE A NEW MILK STATION

Members Southern Illinois-Missouri Co-operative Milk Producers' Association to Ship Milk Direct to E. St. Louis—Other White Hall News.

White Hall, Oct. 27.—A new milk station is now assured at White Hall with the final determination of the local members of the Southern Illinois-Missouri Co-operative Milk Producers' association to withdraw their patronage from the St. Louis Dairy Co., on and after November 1st next. Beginning next Tuesday these milk producers will ship whole milk on their own account to the East St. Louis plant that is now being put in operation by this association to insure a market for the members.

This decision was reached this week following a visit to Mr. Schultz, a director of the producers' association, who addressed a meeting of White Hall milk producers in the city hall Tuesday night. All the milk now produced in the White Hall territory is delivered to the condensed milk plant, a White Hall concern, but which is under lease to the St. Louis Dairy Co. at a right handsome figure. Here is where the division comes. The milk producers who have an investment in the condensed milk plant will remain loyal to the St. Louis Dairy Co., and these with their friends means that the St. Louis Dairy Co. will retain fifty percent of the business.

Lee Griswold is president and Marcus McCollister secretary of the organization that is promoting the new milk enterprise. McCollister is chairman of the committee to plan for a permanent milk station, and associated with him are Meade Baldwin and Ed Westerholt. They will use the ice plant building as temporary quarters, and it is planned to have building operations under way by spring. It was desired to build at once on land belonging to the White Hall Co-operative Mill & Elevator Co., but this has brought up the question of ownership of the land, the C. & A. claiming it, while the mill people have been paying taxes for as far back as the mill ownership of French & Johnson. Another element entering into the permanent station is the matter of being on the main line of railroads so that trains will stop at the milk station to receive milk shipments and unload returned cans, just as has always been the case at the condensed milk plant, which is a regular stopping place for certain C. & A. passenger trains.

J. C. Spencer, speaking for the St. Louis Dairy Co., states that the move will affect their business very little, as fifty per cent of the patrons are loyal. He says that ten per cent are indifferent, and that two per cent constitute the main agitators who are followed by the remaining 38 per cent, thus practically splitting the business between rival milk stations.

Meade Baldwin says the producers will sell to the St. Louis Dairy Co. or any one else who will pay them a just price, but that the producers are tired of making a fat thing for a few; that there is too much of a discrepancy between the 4c per quart that the producers now receive and the retail price of 10c per quart, which gives the middleman more than half of the proceeds. He declares that this discussion on the part of at least fifty per cent of the patrons will be found to be a determined one.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

Sweet Clover Seeded in Oats.—E. O. Towne of Pisgah is cutting for hay a field of biennial sweet clover seeded in oats this spring. A sample of this now in the farm bureau office is over five feet high. This was growing on land that has received liberal applications of limestone. A few plants are blossoming. It would require a prophet to tell whether these are biennial or the new annual.

Motor Driven Fanning Mill.—In a recent visit to the farm of Harold Joy, we were shown a fanning mill driven by an electric motor. The fanning mill was an ordinary machine planned for handpower, but a motor, rheostat and wattmeter were mounted on top and connected in the 32 volt light circuit. The arrangement enables one man to fan any quantity of wheat. Those who have served an apprenticeship at turning fanning mills by hand will appreciate the arrangement.

Demand for Milk Cows.—The farm bureau office is having a greater demand for milk cows than it can possibly supply. This demand is not coming from professional dairymen but from farmers who milk a few cows for family use. The most of the inquiries are for Jersey or Guernseys.

Weathering the Gale.—The man on the small farm who is milking a few cows doing the work himself, feeding a few hogs and keeping a large flock of chickens, is weathering the gale during the economic slump better than the grain farmer or the man who feeds beef cattle. When all is said this type of small farming is economically sound.

Time to buy Potatoes.—The people of Jacksonville are having an unusual opportunity to stock up with good potatoes at a low price. Former residents of the county now living in the potato regions of the northwest are consigning friends potatoes without having the crop go thru the regular channels of trade. The wise buyer will get into the game for this condition will not last.

Corn Ear Worm and European Corn Borer.—The first of these has damaged Morgan county corn crop to greater extent than ever before. This insect is identical with the cotton boll weevil of the south. The European corn borer has also made its appearance in the corn belt. If it gets a good start, the corn growers are in for a world of worry. The damage by corn ear worm is nothing compared to the havoc wrought by the European corn borer.

I. W. COLLEGE NOTES
The Halloween party will be given next Monday evening in the gymnasium. Numerous and unusual stunts have been planned and it is expected that this will be one of the best of the Halloween parties ever given.

The campus is the scene of unusual activity these days, all the tennis courts being in use by the different groups practically all day long. The final games in hockey will be played early Thanksgiving day.

The date is now set for the appearance of Professor S. H. Clark. He will be at the college in April and will give an evening and an afternoon recital besides speaking to the students at the chapel hour.

Professor Clark is one of the most interesting and at the same time the most entertaining man that has ever been at the college. He is professor of the department of Public Speaking at the University of Chicago and always brings a great message to his listeners.

The fire drill committee held the first actual fire drill late Thursday night. The drill was very well carried out with no confusion.

The famous Devereux players will be here on Nov. 28 and will give a matinee and evening performance. These players appear only before the large colleges and universities and are on their way from the University of Illinois to the University of Missouri with an open date so it was possible to secure this company for that date. All lovers of high class drama will be greatly interested in this opportunity to enjoy something exceptionally good. The plays to be given will be announced later.

Miss Winifred Willard, director of publicity under Dr. Hancher, who has charge of the raising of funds for the Methodist institutions, was a guest at the college last Tuesday. Miss Willard is a great favorite among the students and is always glad to return to Jacksonville, as this city is her old home.

Dr. Ira Landreth, the famous chautauqua lecturer, will be at the college on Nov. 8 and will give his lecture entitled "Atlas on the Water Wagon." Dr. Landreth has a great message and is a very forceful and inspiring speaker. Admission is free to this lecture and the public is cordially invited to attend.

A box of books has been received for the Mothershead Memorial Library from Miss Mary Dodge of Morristown, N. J. Miss Dodge was a personal friend of Miss Mothershead. The library has also been presented with a Girl Scout book from the National Headquarters.

Several new books on astronomy have been added to the college library, including among others: Star Lore of the Ages, by Olcott; The Call of the Stars, by Kippax; The Friendly Stars, by Martin; The Astronomy of the Bible, by Maunder.

The band boys entertained the students at chapel exercises Thursday morning with some fine music. They have accomplished good work since they organized. Coach Harmon gave a brief talk to the students explaining the financial needs of the band. In response to the appeal for funds, almost enough money was subscribed to buy the necessary uniforms. The boys own their own instruments with the exception of the drums. Money for these drums is still to be raised. A great deal of enthusiasm is being shown among students and friends in town. One generous merchant voluntarily made a gift of $20 to band and a few days ago, even before the fund had been started. A very liberal donation was granted by the college to the band.

Dr. Rammekamp went to Bloomington Friday to attend the football game between Illinois and Wesleyan.

The judicious buyer considers quality and workmanship—two points always covered by hats bearing Frank Byrns' name.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Butler, Mrs. Jack Leach, Mr. and Mrs. Doc Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Jones, Chester Colton and Charles Craig were listed among city callers yesterday from Woodson.

You Can't Go Wrong If You Trade With Wright

We Emphasize the Fact That Your Credit is O.K.

Credit is one of your most valuable assets. To buy furniture on credit does not imply any financial lack. We have on our books many people who are well able to pay cash for anything they want.

By using their credit they enable their cash to work harder—to cover more business and personal possibilities. They simply figure that furniture which is bought for use in the future, as well as in the present, can properly be paid for from future earnings or income.

Cash in hand is all well and good, but the big business of the world is done on credit, which is one of the reasons that here "Your Credit is Good"

A Widow

A widow, with limited means, living in this town, wanted a new set of furniture for her rest room some few days ago. She came to us, told us her story and said she had a nice piece of mahogany furniture she didn't want and asked us to "trade in." We sent a man up to look over the ground. Two days later we placed in her home a splendid tapestry, three-piece set, took her old mahogany furniture in trade and a small cash balance, and made one woman in this town happy. We would have fared better perhaps if we had sold a thousand dollar set to her, but somehow it was a pleasure to take this special case and make good on it. This is not a pose with us. We just mention it to let you know that this shop is for all the people, all of the time.

WONDERFUL CHANGE IN WHOLE FAMILY

Buffalo Man, Wife and Daughter All Report Remarkable Gains in Weight.

"I gained 12 pounds, my wife gained 26 pounds and my daughter is gaining day by day taking Tanlac. It's the biggest surprise of our lives and all our friends and neighbors are talking about it. This medicine has made a wonderful change in every one of us. Before I got Tanlac, I could hardly drag one foot after the other. I had indigestion perfectly awful. In fact we were all regular dyspeptics. We all swear by Tanlac now at our house. It ought to be in every home. It's the world's greatest family medicine."

The above statement was made by George L. Tessey, a well-known and highly respected machinist, living at 83 Downing street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Tanlac is sold in Jacksonville by J. F. Shreve, Druggist, and by leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT IS WELL ORGANIZED

Woman Describes Russian Organization Aiding in Famine Relief as Wonderful Organization

Philadelphia, Pa. — (By The Associated Press.)—The Health Department of Russia which is aiding in the fight against famine is described by a representative of the Friends' Relief Mission in that country as a wonderful organization.

Writing from Moscow, as she was about to start from that city for Samara on a Health Department train carrying food donated by the Quakers, Anna Louise Strong says:

"The train on which I go down tonight has, besides its many cars of food, a traveling bakeshop that bakes a ton of bread a day, a kitchen car that cooks 1,000 portions at one boiling, a dispensary car beautifully arranged but pitifully short of medicines, a waiting room for patients, a sleeping quarters and dining room for the staff, a bath and laundry. It will travel like a fast passenger train, carrying relief which the Russian peasants themselves have given out of their own poverty."

"The Health Department is non-political and under doctors' control. It has thousands of clinics and sub-stations all over Russia. It works quickly."

"We went to Dr. Trebugov, its head of transport, with our offer of food, and in three hours our wagons were assigned, our permits issued, our food properly divided among the three neediest districts to which trains were going within a few days. We had only to load the wagons, seal them, put our own personnel in charge or allow their doctors to handle as we chose."

"It was up to us, we could work in any way we chose thru them, and we could work quickly. If we had not automobiles enough for loading, they offered us theirs."

"They are tackling an enormous job and doing it well. But their own organization is reported breaking in the distant famine districts because of the starvation of doctors and nurses. They have the organization, but they haven't the food, because all Russia hasn't it. Unless this Health organization is kept intact, pestilence will sweep Europe. As I came from Warsaw to Poland, I saw no other power competent to stop it."

"All the way from Minsk to Moscow were signs of the great spirit that is stirring in Russia in the common fight against famine. There were posters in the stations announcing benefit performances of every kind. Papers announced that the peasants of Jaroslav had given 40,000,000 pounds of potatoes, their entire surplus, asking no money in return, but only salt and a few clothes."

"The central Cooperative, of which I began to hear ever more and more as I went thru Russia, had pledged one pound in every wood (40 pounds) of its grain turnover."

Women were melting wedding rings, not individually but in large groups by general vote.

"It was inspiring; it was terrific; but it was pitifully inadequate. For the famine involves a district of well over 20,000,000 people, stretching 1,500 miles from north to south, and several hundred miles east to west, a district on which Russia normally depends for much food."

PEARLING HAS FALLEN ON EVIL DAYS

LONDON.—(By the A. P.)—Pearling has fallen on evil days because of unsettled conditions throughout the world. James Clarke of Brisbane, known as the "Australian Pearl King," told the Royal Commission investigating the pearling at Sydney, Australia. He added that a contributing cause of the slump is the discovery by Japanese of the secret of growing pearls.

All pearling boats are laid up at Thursday Island, while at Broome, West Australia, only 100 boats out of 400 are working, says a correspondent of the Daily Mail.

ED CROSS PROVED ITS WORTH IN WAR

Proved Itself in Peace—
Statement of Amount Needed.

Every one knows how the Red Cross proved itself in war. Its work has been told a thousand times. But that it has proved itself in peace is not so generally known, possibly because the peace work is less dramatic, less picturesque. Were all Red Cross activities suddenly to stop, the public would be very quickly aroused to a sense of what it had lost. Of all the work that concerns the American Red Cross today, nothing is more important than the share of the care of disabled soldiers, sailors and marines. The Home Service section of the Morgan County Red Cross is free service to the ex-service men residing in this county or those passing through it. It is in touch with their home life and the Red Cross. There are present 319 active cases on the local Red Cross. This is more than all the membership fees paid to the Red Cross during the last year.

National headquarters have applied the following facts to form the public of the work in the ex-service man: During the last year 2,397 American Red Cross chapters, in many communities, carried on organized work for the service ex-service men of the American army and navy and their families.

On July 1, 1921, there were 11,690 men under medical and surgical care in army and navy hospitals and posts. In these establishments were 280 Red Cross workers who made an average of 83,095 service visits each month during the year.

In 1,692 United States public health service, contract and government hospitals and soldiers' homes, there were 26,300 disabled ex-service men. In these establishments 448 Red Cross workers rendered the same aid given the patients while they were in active service.

Every month during the last year the American Red Cross has been in touch with an average of 129,215 ex-service men and their families.

It rendered home service every month to the families of 14,574 men of the peace-time army and navy.

It made 32,495 loans of money to men entering federal vocational training, pending the arrival of their compensation checks.

For the veterans of the world war, the American Red Cross is providing service costing ten million dollars a year. This is more than all the membership fees paid to the Red Cross during the last year.

Your membership dollar will help to keep this work going until the need is over.

The annual Red Cross roll call will be held in the county from November 11 to 24, and in the city of Jacksonville will be held in connection with the United Budget campaign, November 13 to 22.

SEPARATE SCHOOL TAX FROM STATE POLITICS

Educator Declares It Is Imperative If Public Schools Are to Thrive.

Springfield, Ill. — (By The Associated Press)—Separation from politics of the state school tax rate so that jealously of politicians will not touch it, was declared imperative by A. M. Shelton of Crystal Lake, President of the newly created Illinois Education Commission, in an address recently before the annual conference of the Illinois State School Board and City Superintendents' Association.

"We have as yet made no change in our school revenue laws that has gone to the root of our problem of support," Mr. Shelton told the conference. "Heretofore, we have relied mostly upon a local real estate tax for school support. New sources of revenue must be found. A tax upon intangibles and incomes is the most promising source at this time for additional revenue for all publicly supported institutions."

"Our state school rate, if state supported is to be substantial, must be separated from the entire state rate when certified to the county clerks. Each political party jealously guards any variation in this rate. Its movement up or down may mean success or failure to the party in power. Such a plan would take the state school rate out of politics and place school support upon its own merit."

"We are in need," continues Mr. Shelton, in turning to the problem of school districts, "of a larger local unit that will place the entire resources and school organization behind all of the pupils of the community. Such a local unit must rescue the rural teacher from her game of solitaire, from her rating as an unskilled laborer and secure promotion for herself and her pupils. Such a larger local district would combine the wealth and management into a unit that must of necessity have the wholehearted cooperation of the entire community."

Opening his address with an outline of the purposes of the Illinois Educational Commission, Mr. Shelton said, "the expansion and co-ordination of each of our fundamental groups of schools make a state problem of administration. Detached treatment of these school units has filled our school laws with many inequalities in support and control."

"A state board of education would function best in harmonizing and expanding these divisions since it would have only interests that are state wide. This constituted central authority would be mutual, wholesome and profitable when created and empowered thru the conscious effort of those interested in each of these units. Its treatment and interest would be proportional, since its field of labor would lie wholly in administrative organization."

"In the past better education has always meant more money more wisely expended. School attendance has increased faster than school population. The school year has been lengthened and new courses added. This expansion entails new buildings, equipment and increased salary schedules."

MISS ANNE MORGAN
JOINS COSY CORNER

NEW YORK—(By The A. P.)—Sutton Place, society's cozy corner in the heart of the slums, overlooking Blackwell's Island, has another recruit. She is Miss Anne Morgan, sister of the banker, who has just announced her intention to join the exclusive colony which has recently sprung up along the East river, between Fifty-seventh and Sixtieth streets.

Miss Morgan is remodeling a four-story building at a cost of $125,000. It will be colonial design, following the general lines of the house occupied by Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, who started the migration because of the encroachment of business on upper Fifth avenue.

Sudden shifts of fashion in residences are hard to explain in New York, and even harder to predict. The question is still unanswered why society after stepping gingerly across the city to the West Side, deserted Riverside drive and Central Park west for the rumble of trains under Park avenue.

Sutton place promises to remain as small as it is now select. To the north it is bounded by the Queensboro bridge, to the east by the river and to the south and west by factories with soaring smokestacks and tenements unnumbered.

But real estate brokers are happy. These sudden eruptions in value are what make the money roll in.

WILL ESTABLISH MEMORIAL FUND

LONDON—(By The A. P.)—The council of the Royal Aeronautical society has decided to establish a memorial fund to those who lost their lives in the ZR-2 and previous airships. With the income derived from the capital sum raised, it is proposed to encourage investigations into problems connected with airships or allied subjects; the results of such work to be embodied in papers to be read before the Royal Aeronautical society.

It is believed that this offers the best means of carrying on the work of those who have perished in the cause of airships.

The first donation received by the society consists of three crumpled and water-stained notes totalling six pounds, ten shillings, taken from a pocket-book found on Flight-Lieutenant J. E. M. Pritchard, who lost his life in the ZR-2 disaster.

They are sent by anonymous donor as a contribution to the fund with the comment that "the money could not be put to better use" as "the only thing that matters is the airships go on."

BIRTH RATE IS ON
INCREASE IN PARIS

PARIS—(By The A. P.)—Though Paris is yet dealing with a housing crisis, the residents seem determined that the existing homes shall be well filled if any one may judge by the steadily increasing birth rate. The records show many more marriages and births than before the war and also a reduction in the infant mortality in the crowded areas of the city.

There were 31,885 births in Paris during the first six months of 1921 as compared with 24,300 in the same period of 1913 and 27,906 in the first half of 1920. The number of marriages in all of 1913 was only 31,916 while last year there were 53,829 and there have been 26,282 weddings in the first half of 1921.

Parisians are well pleased with the prospect for the next census.

Lloyd Spires of Springfield is in the city spending the week end with his parents.

BRITISH GETTING BACK COAL TRADE

Trade Which Came to America During Long Strike Is Rapidly Slipping Away From This Country.

LONDON—(By A. P.)—Britain's export coal trade, transferred to the United States a few months ago owing to the long strike of British mines is rapidly slipping out of the hands of American traders, according to Board of Trade figures.

"The rapidity with which the international coal trade is reverting to British hands is evidenced in the fact that three months ago the United States was actually exporting coal, not only to the Scandinavian countries but to England, with distinct leadership in the Mediterranean and undisturbed primacy in South American markets," said Alfred P. Dennis, commercial attache of the American embassy.

"We, today, are practically out of the European trade and are rapidly losing our position in the Mediterranean markets, where we had secured practically half the business with our position seriously menaced in South America, where we occupied logically a favored competitive position."

"The amazing recovery of the British coal industry is shown in trade figures for August which shows an export business of more than 3,000,000 tons as compared with 600,000 tons the preceding month, and 1,847,000 tons in August, 1920."

"This striking reversal in the entire situation is due to the immense quickening of coal production in the United Kingdom, accompanied by falling wages."

"The export coal trade is one of the fundamentals in Britain's economic position in world trade and every sacrifice is being made to win back lost ground. Production costs have come down with a run and coal is offered for export at figures approximating production costs."

"On the other hand, production costs in the United States have still a wide margin for decline.

"Fine quality Cardiff coal can now be put on shipboard at 30 shillings, equivalent at present exchange rates to about $5.50 per ton. At normal exchange the price would be $7.30."

"It remains for use to endeavor to maintain our competitive position by bringing down our f. o. b. steamer costs, while at the same time indulging the hope that the future appreciation of sterling may tend to equalize our position, not only in South America but in the major continental markets."

MEXICANS HAVE PECULIAR TASTES

MEXICO CITY—(By The A. P.)—Indicative of the varied emotions to which the Mexican populace easily lends itself was a scene recently enacted at the bull ring here.

The occasion was a bullfight given in honor of the Centennial celebration but prior to the start of the fight a group of Mexican singers and dancers performed. The concluding number was a grand opera selection and more than 25,000 persons applauded so enthusiastically that the number was repeated twice.

Within five minutes, the same 25,000 were cheering wildly as their idol, the matador, Rodolfo Gaona, made his spectacular "Pases de Death" at a raging bull.

WEST POINT STUDENTS
STUDY NEWSPAPERS

WEST POINT—(By The A. P.)—Future generals of the United States Army are studying newspapers as part of their course at the military academy.

The cadets are required to read two New York dailies, as part of their class work on current events, and pass examinations on editions from important stories and editorials. Officers at the post say it is one of the most interesting, if not one of the most valuable innovations in many years.

The papers are read immediately after breakfast. The instructors then quiz the cadets orally on the news of the day. They are asked to summarize the important happenings, foreign and domestic, and explain their significance.

Col. L. H. Holt, head of the department of history, economics and government, suggested the plan which recently was approved by Brig.-Gen. Douglas McArthur, the superintendent.

Some More Dope on Tires

Many People Ask Us Why Ford Tires "Rim Cut."

A Ford tire is of the clincher type.

If the clincher bead does not fit the rim it moves up and down when the wheel turns on the road. This constant friction cuts through the rubber and on through the fabric like a saw.

It requires considerable machinery and science to cure a tire so when it is finished the bead will be exactly the size it should be.

This accounts for a Ford tire at a cheap price not giving the service you expected when you bought it.

When Ajax put out a 30x3 1/2 Ford tire for $16.40 it was the lowest price they ever had on a tire that size. It is the lowest price casing now that will on the average give 6000 miles service.

We claim it costs less per mile to run Ajax tires than any tire you can buy for less money.

We guarantee a cost per mile of 2 1/4 mills. Cheap enough is it not? Approximately 1c per mile on 4 tires.

If this is the church of your choice plan to attend at least one or more services. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Young People's meeting at 6:30 o'clock. Smith and the lessons as presented in his enthusiastic manner are full of inspiration and help. The class meets at 9:30 every Sunday morning in the north room of the basement. Every man in the city not in the habit of attending another school is invited to be present tomorrow. There is no age limit. There are also classes for everyone else and a very cordial welcome to strangers or new-comers. The Official Board held their monthly meeting last Wednesday at the close of the Quarterly Conference. The regular meeting night is the first Tuesday in each month, but in order to avoid a conflict with the laymen's meeting of Grace church next Tuesday, the business was transacted Wednesday and the meeting next Tuesday cancelled. The pastor will preach at both services tomorrow. Subject for morning: "The Forgiveness of God." Subject for evening: "Can You Pay?" The Epworth league meets at 6:30 Sunday evening. WHEAT, CORN AND
OATS CLOSE LOWER

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—A slump
in wheat in the pit pulled down the entire list on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Wheat and corn closed ¼ to ½ cent lower, oats off ¼ to ½ cent and provisions varied more unchanged to 7½ lower.

Local professionals ruled the wheat pit thru most of the short session. An initial dip and recovery were followed by steadily increased buying when the professionals found that offerings were light.

This carried wheat to 1½ cent over the opening.

Some bullish sentiment was created by an estimate that the country's exportable surplus had been reduced to 64,000,000 bushels. To offset this, export and milling demands were slow and there was a report that southwestern mills might shutdown because of absence of demand for flour.

Corn was firm early and started to climb with wheat but weakened readily under the week-end evening up trades. Private reports on farm reserves scheduled for Monday were forecast as showing record holdings. One Illinois point reported that New Orleans was outbidding Chicago for ten day shipment corn. Oats were so dull that they merely followed other grains.

Most of the trade in provisions was in hard, prices weakening to conform to live

LOOK FOR HEIRS OF DEAD INDIAN

Left Lot of Land Which No Title Can Be Given to Until It Is Definitely Learned He Left No Relatives.

MUSKOGEE, Okla.—(By the A. P.)—On the rolls of the old Dades commission here, the name of John "Big" Rider, a Cherokee Indian, appears. "Big" has been allotted land, but he is dead and his grave, somewhere near Tahlequah, Okla., is unmarked. That is not the trouble, however, as the title to his land cannot be cleared until it is definitely proven he died or did not leave relatives.

A decade and a half ago, Big Rider was well known among the barbeques and celebrations at Tahlequah, according to some of the full bloods who occasionally visit Victor M. Locke, Jr., superintendent of the five tribes. He was never accompanied, and some of them remember that the Indian said he was a man without a family—"all alone." Proof of this seems lacking however.

The striking characteristic of Big Rider was his immense physique, which it was believed gave rise to his name, Big, which was not taken until later year. He was vain, his contemporaries say, regarding his physical prowess, and one was nearly hanged, because of the fact.

A companion, an Indian, was found dead on the reservation, and Big Rider pushed his way into the crowd which had gathered.

"Hum. Me kill 'um," he said proudly.

After he was marched away it was several days before he confessed that he had made the statement merely for effect, and could prove that he had been in Tahlequah when the Indian was slain.

Personal property in the estate of James T. Daddis will be sold at auction at his late residence near Concord, Wednesday, Nov. 2, at 1 p.m. sharp, including household goods live stock, implements, and other goods. Terms cash. H. C. CLEMENT, Administrator.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY AT WHITE HALL HOME

Mrs. Dean Cora and Mrs. E. J. Hume Hostesses at Pleasant Gathering—Other White Hall News of Interest.

White Hall, Oct. 29.—The numerous social events of Halloween had their inception at a gathering Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Dean Cora on North Main street, the hostesses being Mrs. Cora and Mrs. E. J. Hume. Thirty-six ladies were present, and the decorations were in conformity to Halloween custom, these being extended to the lunch cloths, favors and prizes. The game of five hundred furnished the leading form of entertainment, prizes being awarded to Mrs. G. R. Waddell and Mrs. Mame Graham as the first and second best players. A number of children were attired as ghosts, and they served and engaged in the part of jesters. Following the main event, the children had a feast together that turned out to be about the main feature of the proceedings. The menu consisted of chicken salad, potato chips, brown bread, salad, beaten biscuits, coffee with whipped cream.

P. C. Archer of Chicago, general claim agent of the C. A., spent Thursday in White Hall.

There will be services at all the churches next Sunday, and the announcements are below received with increasing interest with the increasing attendance upon church services that is beginning to be noted.

The First Baptist church will have a special engagement that they desire mentioned in these columns, with the coming of Rev. Joseph Jenkins, of Jerseyville, to that pulpit for both the morning and evening services. Reverend Jenkins was formerly pastor of the important Baptist church at Jerseyville, and gave up the pastorate about a year ago to recuperate by engaging in the insurance business. He comes to White Hall strictly on a visiting basis to meet the Baptist people here.
